How Early Is Early Enough? Rethinking Evidence Planning for Today's Global Access Challenges

Theater 2, Hall X1-X4, Level 2

Priti Jhingran*

How do organizations determine what evidence will be needed years before regulatory, reimbursement and pricing decisions occur? How can cross-functional teams reach consensus on the evidence gaps that matter most, and how should scarce evidence-generation resources be prioritized? How can a technology-enabled Integrated Evidence Generation Planning (IEGP) approach support a living evidence strategy?
